DRAMA CLUB

Bigger and better

The Drama Department has one more year under its belt under the great direction of Barb Gende. The fall and winter plays were wonderful, and the spring musical was a special ending for the school year.

"Come Blow Your Horn", "Heaven Can Wait", and "Li'l Abner " were all realistically portrayed in Rocky's two theaters. The casting was exquisite, and all performances had a life of their own.

The Drama Club has had a hard time getting started this year, but they did have more to do than last year's group. The club went to a couple of performances at other schools, but none measured up to the great talent at Rocky.

Acting class gave Jarod Berry and Craig Darr an excuse to play guns.

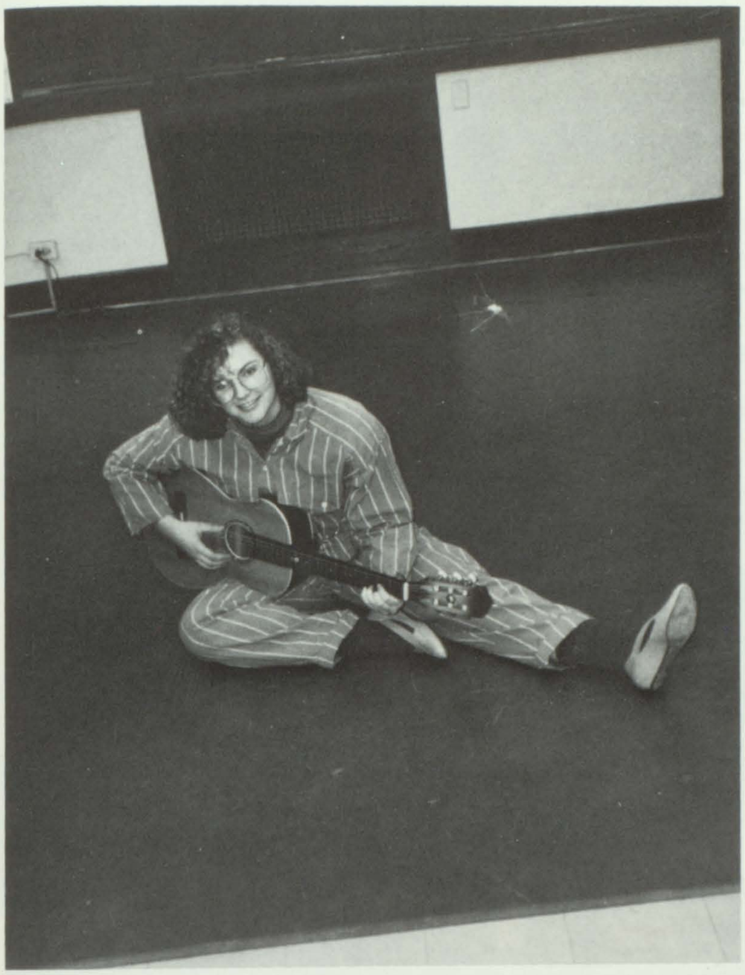
Some Drama Clubbers went to see the production at Black Hawk. Jennie Young, Rachel Thomas, and Rick Zessar hammed it up while waiting for the rest of their group to arrive.

Moline High School put on "Fame" and Zach Maurus, Chris Nielson, Rachel Thomas, Laura Hudson, Rick Zessar, Gena Coin, and Mike Wright went to see it.

Rob Brasher, Mary Beth Udy, Rachel Thomas, Stephanie Quade, Amanda Priest, Mickey Dochterman, Jenny Bills, Kieth Benhart, Jamie Van Hook, Heather Stickel, Wendy Czekalski, Chris Spaight, Chris Nielson, Beth Miles, Desi Willis, Jennie Young, Rick Zessar, and Frank Eirenburg.

DRAMA CLUB

Abounding with talent, Meredith Wright sang and played guitar for her audition for the musical.



Many people were nervously waiting to be called for their musical audition. Will they make it?

The fall play "Come Blow Your Horn" starred Elisabeth Rich and Jamie Van Hook. Gimme that suitcase!

C.W.T.

Getting a head start

Cooperative Work Training, commonly known as C.W.T., teaches students skills for holding a job in the areas of retail, grocery, and maintenance stores.

"This program helps students develop requisite entry--level skills, attitudes and work habits so they are better prepared to enter today's tough job market", stated instructor Don Resler.

Resler's students spend the mornings taking required courses, such as social studies, English and the C.W.T. classroom work of the day. Half is spent on the job.

An employer--employee banquet was held in the spring . It brought students and bosses together in a relaxed atmosphere and let the business community know that Rock Island High School appreciates their cooperation in helping students become responsible employees.

Customers frequently want Crystal Hayes to switch kinds of pop in their cases for them at the 24th street Eagle's grocery store.

Jeff Bentley checks with his supervisor Neal Moore, at Illinois Oil Products, Inc. to be sure that he is sending out the correct material.

Both patients and staff appreciate the special help that Shaundra Moultrie offers at the Rock Island Convalenscent Center.

PRINCIPAL'S SCHOLARS

Special opportunities offered

The Principal's Scholars Program is based on principles related to the school, home and the program working together while providing the students with direct access to information concerning high school course selection, performance in those courses and careers. This information is supplemented with related experiences to provide the participants with greater insights and a broader vision of the academic arena and the world of work. All activities are provided with promoting excellence in performance.

A combination of in-school and out of school activities were provided. Trips to Augustana College, St. Ambrose and University of Wisconsin At Madison provided the Scholars with new college related experiences. Other trips to the Chicago museums and the Rock Island District Corps of Engineers added much to the students over all knowledge.

Principal's Scholars from Rocky joined those from other area high schools at Augustana College to learn more about college opportunities.

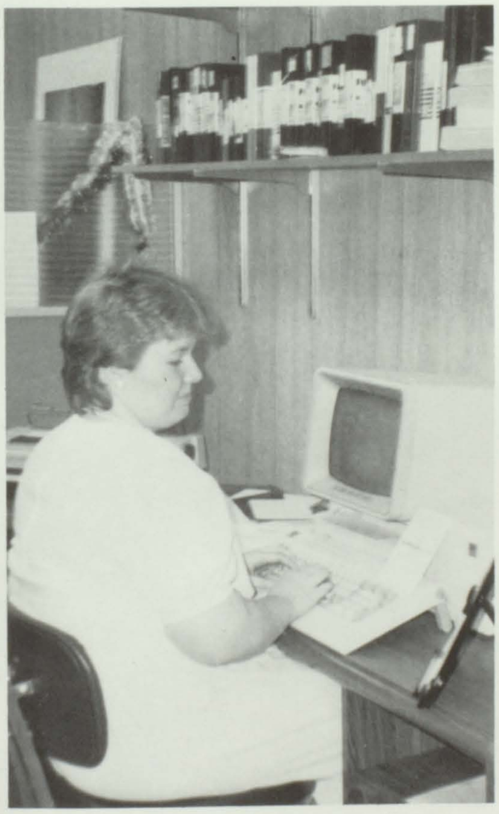
Janet Bragg understands the importance of United Way to her community now that she has worked in the office there.



Typing radio and television schedules fills much of Debbie Rumley's day at WHBF.

Officers of the Office Education Association included: Sylvia Whitfield, Parliamentarian, Lynn Shadle, Treasurer, Wendy Cargill, Secretary, Averia Wright, Vice President, and Lori Vince, President.

Developing office skills

Office Occupations is a program designed for students interested in preparing for entry-level jobs in the office.

Students in this program work to develop marketable skills in typewriting, proofreading, filing, transcription, word processing, handling correspondence, telephone techniques and more.

Students attended a half-day of school and a half-day of on the job training, earning wages comparable to other beginners for the services provided. In addition, credit is earned toward a high school diploma.

All students of Office Occupations became members of the Office Education Association, a national professional organization for students preparing for careers in the business world. Officers were elected and regular meetings were held. Members have the opportunity of putting their skills to use in competition with other OEA members on the local, state and national level. In the past, Rocky has had serval students go on to compete at the national level.

Brats and Brew

This year's German Club was once again a great success.The club got off on the right foot last fall by celebrating the annual Oktoberfest, which is a traditional German custom.Members played volleyball and sat around a roaring bonfire.The favorite part of the evening came when the members were treated to a variety of German delicasies.Among these dishes,apple strudel and,of course ,bratwurst were the favorites.

In the spring the club held its first annual Fasching ,or Mardi Gras celebration.Once again, eating German dishes and pastries was the favorite time of the party.

This year's German Club provided to its members a chance to get a taste of the German culture through food,music,and most of all,fun.

Officers for this years German Club were: President Marc Hagen, Junior Representative Monica Growe, Freshman Representative Pam Hagen, Sophomore Representative Krista Troll, Senior Representative Tammy Tyree, and Secretary/Treasurer Patty Chen.

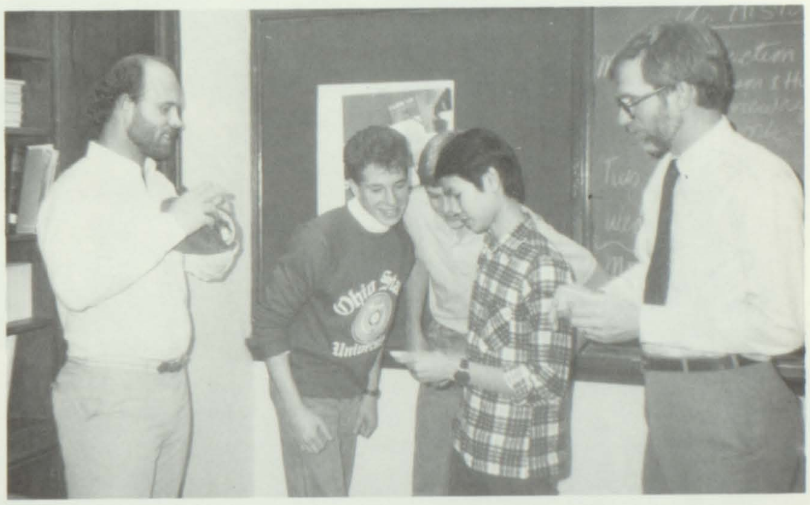
Members of this year's Close-Up Club included: Angie Taylor, Regina Muskeyvalley, Missy Temple, Melisa Seward, Tracy Firlus, and Mr. Cabel. Row two: Mr. Dennis, Matt Stern, Kevin Dennis, Dan Shallman, Alex Munn, and Duc Hoang.



Officers for this year's Close-Up Club were: President Missy Temple, Vice President Duc Hoang, Secretary Angie Taylor, and Treasurer Kevin Dennis.

Dan Shallman, Matt Stern, and Duc Hoang watch to see if Mr. Dennis has picked their name for one of several scholarships which were given away by the Close-Up Club.

"CU in D.C."

For most students,the opportunity to visit Washington D.C. doesn't happen very often. Through the Close-Up Club at Rocky,any student may take part in such a trip.

Through the Close-Up Club organization, money was raised by holding several fund raisers.The Second Annual Filibuster-A-Thon was held in November and additional funds were raised by a Friday the 13th dance in February.Local civic groups also contribute scholarships for this educational program.

This year students spent one week in the nation's capitol with Wayne Cabel as a chaperone.They attended workshops with area congressman, sat in Congress, and had the chance to find out first hand how our government works. Of course, socializing filled a part of each day thus making the trip both enjoyable and a learning experience.

Muy Bien Español

Pan-Am club started at the Rock over 35 years ago to further ones interest in Spanish culture, literature, art, music and history.

In the past, Pan Am has had native dancers preform, an annual Christams dinner, workshops on how to make Ojos de Dios, pinatas, tacos and enchiladas. Programs are given throughout the year by exchange students and other cultured people.

The annual Christams party is always a proven success. This year it was held at Chi Chi's with a gift and a booklet of Spanish culture for all.

Linda Ehrmann, Kelly Collins and Liz Delong do the Cha-cha-cha.

Many Pan-Am members take time-out to pose for a quick shot.

Larry Tabita, Brent Smith, Cari David, Jenny Gannon and Kim Brozovich take time for a little Spanish culture.

French Aristocrats

This year Rocky's French Club succeeded in doing much more then in previous years. Throughout the year they had special guest speakers, a Christmas and Mardi Gras party, a French play, the French Letter-O-Grams, the spring trip to Chicago, fund raisers, and the sports competitions between all of the clubs.

The officers for 86-87 were President Shelli Curtis, Vice President Steve Sabel, Secretary Christy Adamson, Treasurer Meredith Wright, and their loyal sponsor Miss Roloff.

"Before, French Club has only been something to be in," commented Shelli Curtis, "but this year we actually did things." For Rocky's French Club, this year was Tre's Bien!

Lettermen are led by Fred Oelschlaeger, president; Andy Campbell, vice-president; P. J. Lingard, treasurer; and Judi Stamper, secretary.

LETTERMEN

Thanks to the Lettermen, Tony Thoesen can film Ali Miner, although he should only use it for Cross Country, and not his own personal recreation.

One of the oldest and most popular Lettermen fundraisers is the annual Casino night. Matt Stern and Beth McDevitt see how much they can cash in from Zach Maurus.

Fun — draising

Once again, the Lettermen's Club dominated the club scene. From sponsoring the Homecoming Dance, to the Super Santa contest, to Casino Night, to Rent-a-Letterman, lettermen raised thousands of dollars to put towards certain needs of the numerous athletic organizations

Led by Coach Bill Burrus, president Fred Oelschlaeger, vice-president Andy Campbell, secretary Judi Stamper, and treasurer P.J. Lingard, the friendly group was eager to help the sports and general well-being of the school . The swim team was granted the money to buy new lane markers, the wrestling squad accquired a new scale, and the cross country squad received a video camera.

Letterman's club is always a fun group with unique, exciting fund raisers that help unite the student body as a whole. And the 50th version of this was no different.

It didn't snow?!?!

The Rock Island High School's Ski Club didn'tget a chance to be successful this year with the lack of snow for the season.

However, trips were made to Sundown and Snow Star frequently. The people who made it all possible were President, Michelle Maiers; Vice President, Mike Grawe; Secretary, Diane Cunningham; Public Relations, Greg Maiers; and their wonderful sponsor Mr. Benson.

The Ski Club participated in helping to sponsor the KOS VOS dance. To earn a more money they passed out flyers for the Davenport Medical Center.

The lack of snow prevented a lot of skiing, but it didn't prevent the fun. In the spring they held a volleyball tournament and pizza partry with other ski clubs from area schools.

Rocky's pride hasn't changed too much, although dress and hair styles have gone through a drastic evolutionary process. Elaine Foley and Robert Harris show off the fashion of their era. What will the class of 2037 think of what we wore?

Party for after prom

Kevin Fink and Mary Beth Udy had some fun while at a workshop to learn how to organize and run a post-prom party.

It took lots of time and even more planning but the post-prom party finally became a reality.

Seniors Kevin Fink and Mary Beth Udy came up with the theme, Project "CHYLL" (Come Help Young Leaders Learn), after attending a weekend workshop in Springfield, IL. "At the workshop we learned how to plan such an event, how to get the community as well as the students and parents involved, and have everything be a success," Mary Beth stated.

This year the post-prom party was held at the Rock Valley Athletic Club May 16th following the docking of the Quad-City Queen. Students were able to play raquetball, tennis, basketball, participate in "Casino Night", and sign the Graffiti wall. Free food was offered all night long.

"Hopefully this post-prom party will start a tradition at Rock Island High School that will be carried on for a long time," Kevin Fink added.

New friendships formed

Anne Henningsson and Sabine Gehain, two of R.I.H.S. foreign exchange students, have spent their year here and now must return home. Both brought culture and friendliness many of us will never forget.

Henningsson, a native of Stockholm, Sweden, would like to visit America again, but in some other area, possibly California, Hawaii, or Colorado. Gehain, from Belgium, would also like to visit the West Coast or New York.

Both Gehain and Henningsson, would recommend being a foreign exchange student because one sees many different sights as well as learning a new language and culture.

Both Henningsson and Gehain participated in a sport. Gehain, who was involved in gymnastics, stated that; "She was not allowed to participate in` gymnastics for competition because she had already graduated from high school in Belgium." Henningsson was unable to run on a school cross country team in Sweden because they did not have one. Both exchange students claimed that sports are not stressed as much in their countries as they are here. They don't have practices before and/or after school.

Their grades were extremely good. Henningsson got straight A's, and Henningsson and Gehain commented that it is very easy over here to get good grades. Straight A's is very impressive for someone who just came to our country.

Gehain plans to attend the college at Brussels. She would like to major in law. Henningsson, will continue her education since she missed a year from school. She does not get credit for the year here.

Sabine Gehain and Anne Henningsson found they had a lot in common to talk about since they both come from Europe.

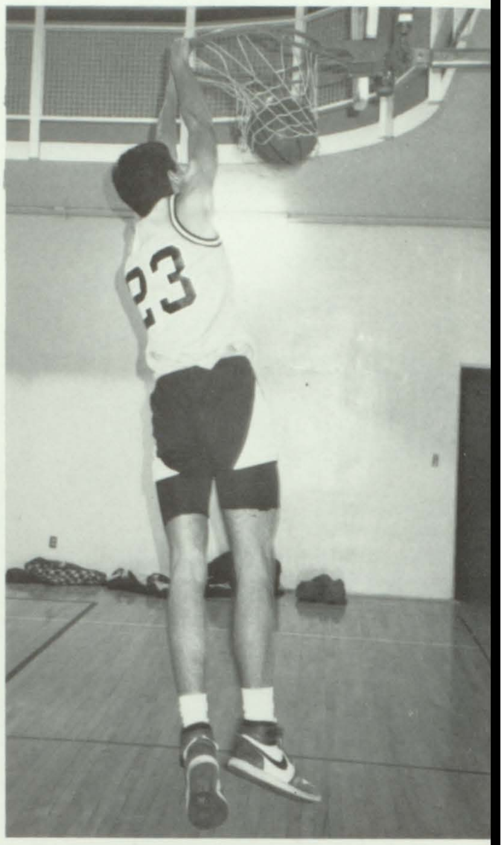
The Y-League basketball program provides weekly fun for Trevor Schauenberg, Tom Gibbons, Fred Oelschlaeger, Troy Ellis and Ted Rossow during the winter months.

The old slam dunk is just as much fun in the Y-League basketball program as the professionals.



Senior run and gun

It's Thursday night. It was just like any other Thursday night. Dinner with the family, a little bit of Cosby, and some homework. But wait, you've overlooked something. Yes, Y-League, oh how could I forget ? Do I play at seven, or eight, no..... maybe it's nine!! For a lot of seniors at Rocky this is routine for all Thursday nights, from November through February.

For the last three years the Rock Island Family Y has provided fun and excitement with the best of their version of street ball!

The league consists of six teams with seven to eight players on each. The league is highly dominated by seniors who take charge as floor generals from tip-off to buzzer.

"It gives us something to look forward to," commented senior Fred Oelschlaeger. And the "Y" definitely does that. Not only for the players but for the friends and girlfriends who come to watch."

So if your Thursday nights next winter are dull and boaring, head down to the "Y". You won't be disappointed!! The seniors always put on a good show, whether it be B-ball or otherwise.

Comparing notes

A dress code..... at Rocky ? Fifty years ago a female student under suspicion of defying the dress code would kneel on the floor, (she was wearing a skirt, pants were not tolerated for girls), she was sent home. The long gone dress code was just one reminicent of Mrs. Vera Witherspoon Bolte, a member of the first graduation class from the present Rocky building.

Bolte's grandaughter, Gena Coin, a member of the 50th class to graduate from these halls, sits at her desk in a sweat shirt and faded blue jeans.

Supposing Gena would skip a few classes one day, she would receive a number of detentions, and she would have to face Mr. Reid. Mrs. Bolte would still get detentions but, surprisingly enough, Mr. Reid would not administer them. In those days the principal had the power to punish, and Mr. Wright, according to Mrs. Bolte, took advantage of that fact.

In 1937 and 1938, the Drama Club was " the club" to be in. This was do to the fact that plays were very popular past-times as every family didn't have a TV. Shirley Temple movies were also fun, as were those of the comedy team of Laurel and Hardy. "Gone With the Wind" made for popular reading, and nothing could have been more exciting than to dance the Jitterbug to a snappy Glen Miller tune. If none of this struck your fancy, you could roller skate, or ice skate during the winter months.

If you were a boy, you could go out for football, basketball, track, cross-country, tumbling team, or golf. But if you were a girl, tough luck!, there weren't any sports for you yet.

Gena and her grandmother have a lot to talk about, with all the changes that have occurred in the past three decades. And hopefully, by the time Gena has a grandaughter of her own, they too can discuss the changes at R.I.H.S.

Vera Bolte and her granddaughter, Gina Coin, compare notes about how Rocky has changed over the past fifty years.

Writing is her talent

If ever looking back on the sports pages of the Quad City Times, be sure to look at the short stories above the box scores because there you'll see the superb writings of our own Susie Snyder!

Susie started working for the Times in November of '86 and no she doesn't empty garbage cans and go out for doughnuts! She does very interesting jobs such as taking scores and writing short stories above the boxes. Susie found out about the job from Mrs. Wahe and went to the Times and applied. She felt she got the job because she was the most qualified and "She was a girl!!". She feels that working on the computers at school in the Journalism Department helped her very much in her job, and that for all underclassmen interested in computers and journalism, the R.I.H.S. system is very good.

Susie is a very talented writer, and produced many stories for The Crimson Crier. She has also been an editor for the yearbook for two years.

Next year she intends to go to Northern and major in journalism, then go on to either creative writing for television or newspaper writing.

Sue is a very unique writer and deserves to be recognized for her writing abilities, and the best of luck goes out to her for her future goals!

Between her job at the Quad City Times and her duties for the Crimson Crier and Watchtower, Susie Snyder spends a great deal of time at the computer typing stories.

Wrapped up

Clayton Brendal was a certified student trainer for the Rocks varsity football team for two years. This task has taken many hours of Clayton's free time. "Giving up my free time was no problem as I enjoyed working with the team and coaches and found it very valuable," stated the student trainer.

He attended a special training course at Northern Illinois University set up by Kramer Athletics Company and the university. The course was held during the summer of 1985. The teachers of this course crammed 50 hours of intense work into four long days. Varsity head coach Bill Burrus helped Clayton get signed up for this course.

Clayton Brendal helped football players like Tom Gibbons when injureis hit this year.

Life on the runway

"Too many people have just been sitting back and saying I want to be a model, "says Rene Scott a senior who has modeled and also has chosen it for a career .

Rene's now modeling for the agency "Christl Image." She started modeling after her mom, who is a model encouraged her to try the career.

Rene has been modeling for two and a half years and described her experience as a hands on situation where she has to be ready , waiting,and always prepared when called.

"Modeling can also be a way to find out or bring out something in yourself you never knew you had," Scott stated. "It teaches how to have self confidence even if you are not that good, and how to present yourself to the best."

Just like any other career you may have your mind set on, modeling requires a lot of pressured time. Rene spends two to three hours three times a week training to be one of the best models.

She has learned that in this type of business once you have received the training you are pretty much on your own. Rene often has to contact other agencies herself for jobs because her agency does not always have a job for her.

Renee plans to pursue her career at Patricia Stevens in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to be prepared and have a better advantage in the professional modeling field. She adds one thing to anyone who is thinking of being a model, "You really have to want to spend the time, effort, and hard work to be well known and successful.

Posing on stage is becoming a natural thing for Rene Scott this year.

Music not noise

Jim Gifford's friends know they can always find him behind a set of drums somewhere when they really need him.

When you first think of a band, the member that comes to mind is usually the good looking lead singer or the flashy guitar player. Because drummers are set farther back and don't have the freedom to move around, they are ofter overshadowed.

Because of the passion he puts into, and the energy he gets out of the drums, Jim Gifford is a rare exception. Jim started playing drums because he wanted to perform for people, he hoped through music he could stir peoples emotions and the rythmic beat of a drum seemed like the best way. Thankfully Jim's gift has not fallen entirely on the ears of Rocky students. He has received several musical honors including six first place state music solos, and various Augustana honor band awards.

All this did not happen overnight for Jim. He has been practicing everyday since the age of five. Although he has played the piano for six or seven years, the drums are the only instrument he uses while playing with the Rocky pep and jazz bands.

" Like everything else," Jim said, "My parents have always been behind me when it comes to my drums." The hundreds of dollars in college scholarships he has won are still unable to cover the $3500 his parents have spent on his drum set. Jim went on to say; "Although my parents enjoy hearing me play, there is a limit to how much they can withstand; that's why they soundproofed our basement."

In the future, Jim would like to be a studio musician and envisions himself playing drums on the number one hits of tomorrow. In the more immediate future, Jim will attend Purdue University, where he plans to be a member of their jazz and pep bands.

They are last of their kind

The grade school years..... the learning years, the carefree years, circle ball, red rover, Valentine's Day boxes, and wearing boots to school and carrying your loafers in a plastic bag. They were good times, and they were bad times, but they were not easily forgotten.

For a select group of seniors, these memories are all the more cherished, these are the last students to complete Kindergarten through sixth grade at Horace Mann Elementary School.

Horace Mann was one of the newest schools in District #41, only twenty some years old when it was closed in 1981. It is now used as a center for physically handicapped students, and numerous Park Board programs.

"It was a very hard concept to understand at that age," remembered senior class president Kevin Fink. "All we knew was that they were closing our school for no apparent reason to us. We thought it was very unfair."

The school was small enough for the teachers and students to become close, and it very much aided in the learning. Many students still visit their favorite teachers, who have been dispersed throughout the area.

Neither have the students strayed too far from each other finding nothing quite the same as their first and closests friends.

So here's to the last graduates of Horace Mann; the end of an era, now gone but never to be forgotten.

Some of the old "Horace Mann Gang" got together one night after school to recall the good old days before their beloved school closed.

Doris Wood from the central office at Rocky was the secretary at old Horace Mann school when this group of seniors were just little elementary kids.

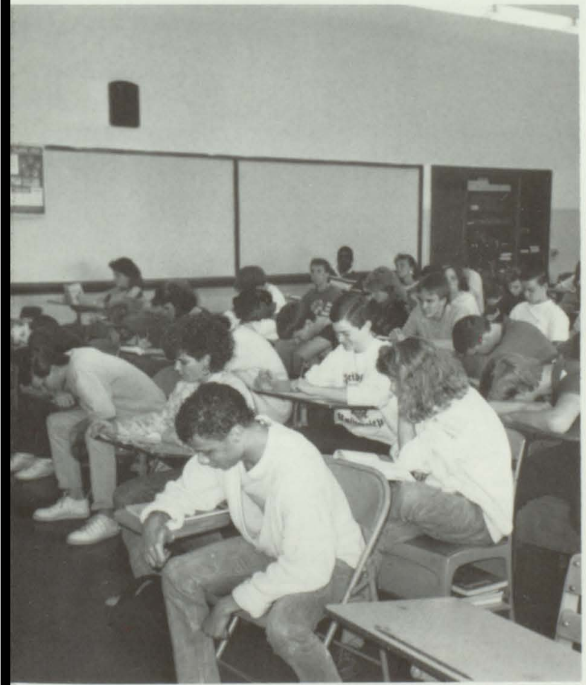
Four years of hard work have earned these seniors this privilege.

Dances at the Rock will be one of the events greatly missed by the class of 1987.

After four years at the Rock, most seniors anticipate going out of the school doors more than coming in them.



Homecoming floats are something that every senior can get excited about.

While most underclassmen bring paper and pencil to study hall so they can catch up on their work, seniors have learned to bring Sominex and enjoy the peace and quiet.

Post-prom meetings gave seniors a chance to work together as a group and show the rest of the school why they deserve to be called leaders.

Juniors Cedric McGee and Jenny Bills enjoyed acting as Masters of Ceremony for the Homecoming Assembly.

dead.

Staff secretaries from around Rocky get together to compare notes once in awhile. Rita Carbone, Jackie Atkinson, Chris Lage and Karen Narske share their information.

Credit the efficiency of the Dean's Complex to Barb Harmon, Donna Mander and Pam Bowen who have to handle the many details of attendance and detentions.

Harold Rothier, Forrest Workman, John Webster, Mike Whan and Tom Bennett have to clean up our mess at the end of each day and see that the building is in order.

Linda Hunter, Colleen Whited, Rolonda Perez, Dianne Grisham, Wanda Heber, Sharon Hacker, Charlotte Franklin and Mary Danielson lend their special help around the building as aides.

A smile is always on the face of Mr. Payton while he keeps the TEC room in line.

Trond Brekke and Maxine Coffield used this typewriter to publish an ancient Crimson Crier and Watchtower. A typewriter as such looks so....mechanical to us, manual machines are no longer part of our lives. Today, living in the age of computers, our publications are printed through the latest technology.

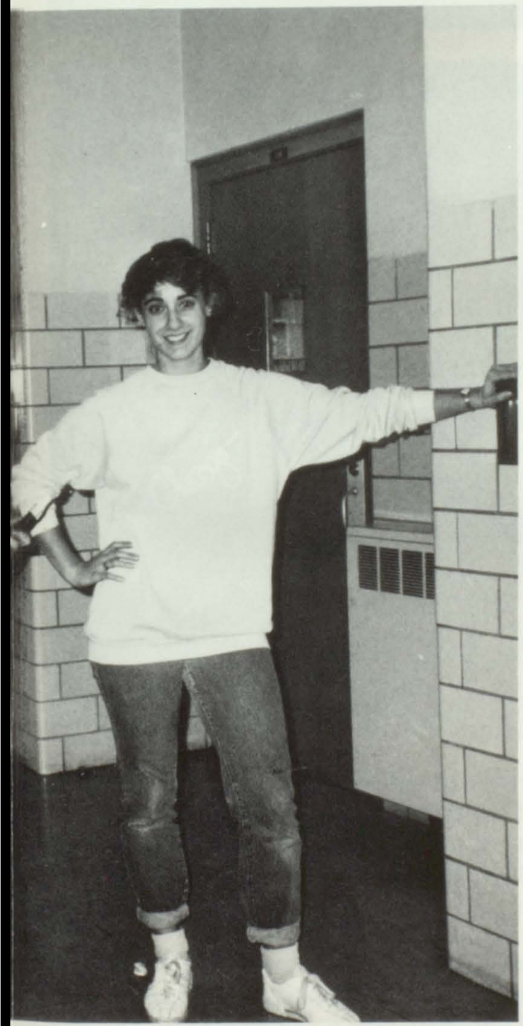
Even the best of us need to be disruptive sometimes! Kevin Fink and Missy Temple threaten to cause mayhem.

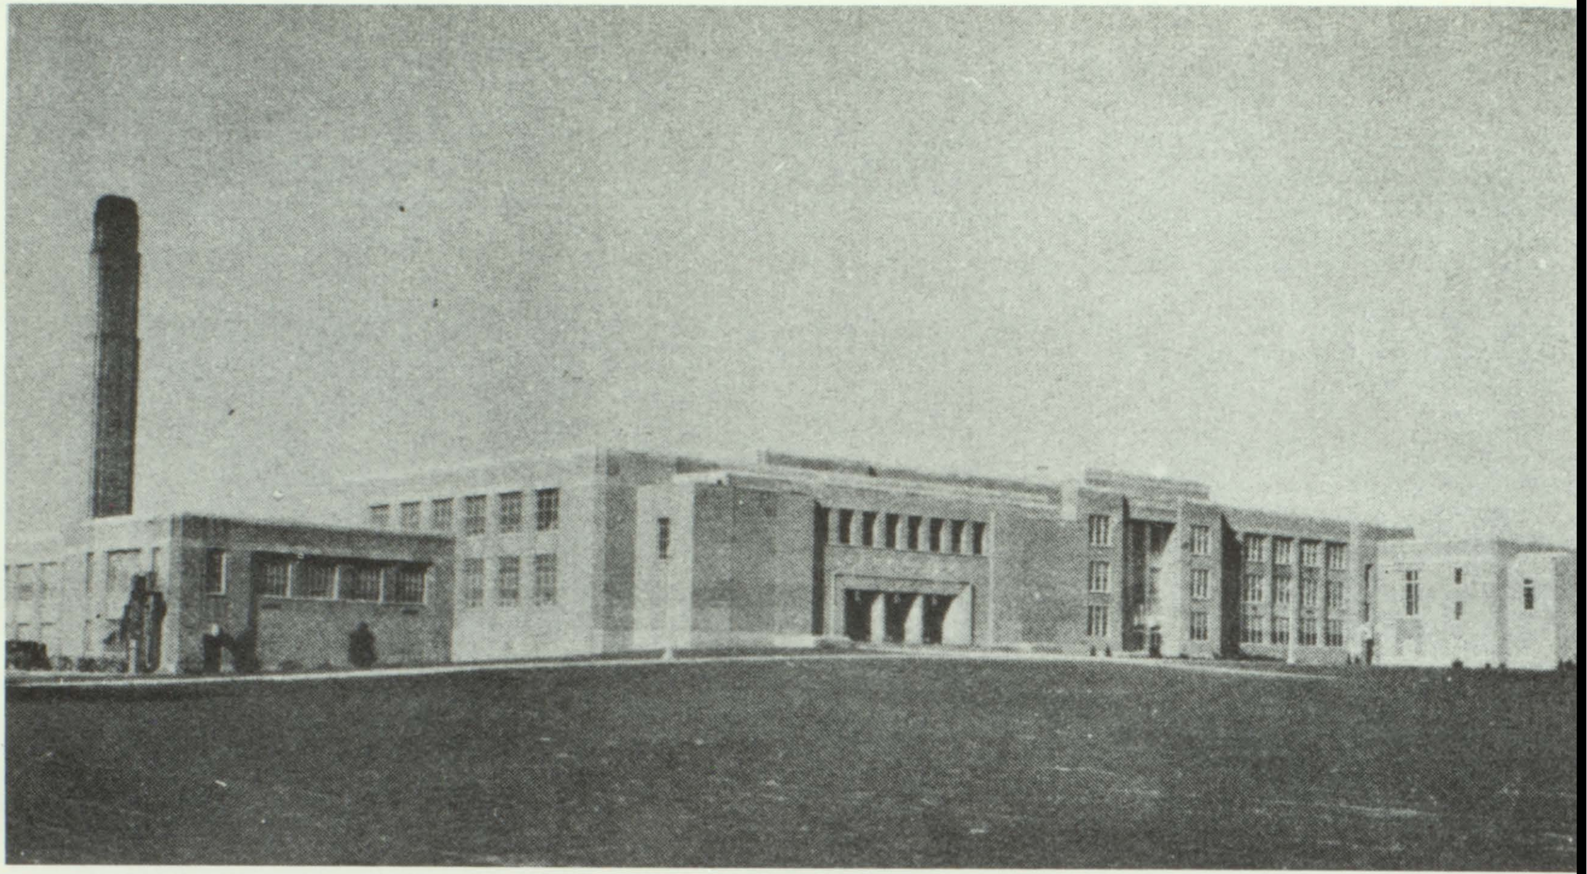
The cold winter months were "foreign" to Michael Wright, our exchange student from Africa. But staying with Kurt Towler, whose father works as botanist for Longview Park, had its advantages. When the winds got bitter, Mike and Kurt hid out in the greenhouse.

Dungeons and Dragons helps Terry Thomas see a new side to his friends. Kyle Hayes, Tony Bunch, and Kevin Straw really "get into" the game.



Fifty years ago students didn't get to participate in Saturday Morning Detention. Mr. Payton makes sure the sleepy eyes of Bob Hall, Tom Dillon, and Rudy Esquer stay open.

Never let Scott Atkinson drive your car! Elisabeth Rich discovers that the hard way as he promises her, Sabine Gehain, and Heather Huber a joy ride they won't soon forget.



A brand new Rocky as it stood in September of 1937. No landscaping, no Field House, and no rock in front.

The Drama Department still uses the Little Theatre for fall and winter productions. Mickey Dochterman, Rick Zessar, and Frank Erinbergh rehearse for "Heaven Can Wait".

Special Tribute: We would like to make special acknowledgement to Marjorie Cook, Richard Klatt, Marguerite Pierce and Florence Simmons who are all retiring at the end of the l987 school year. Their many years of service and dedication to Rock Island High School have been greatly appreciated. We wish all of you an enjoyable retirement.

To all staff and faculty: without your help much of our work would have been impossible. Thank you all for your help, time, consideration, and allowing us to interrupt your valuable class time for all our copy-writing and picture taking. It was all very much appreciated.

To the student body we thank you for your cooperation and apologize for any errors, especially the spelling of names, that might appear.
